

CONFERENCE: FONMUN III

FORUM: UNSC

QUESTION OF: managing and preventing militarization and weaponization of sky and space

SUBMITTED BY: Afghanistan, DPRK

CO-SUBMITTED BY:

SUPPORTED BY:

Preambulatory clauses

Preventing the risk of war in space, which is a new area of domination, targeted by the world's wealthiest powers;

Establishing ambitions of space domination through positive relations and peace and according to the treaty of Space of 1967.

Noting that space isn't controllable by every delegation, which means that solutions are needed to establish peace and serenity for each country;

Operative clauses:

1. Prevents war space by any possible ways such as but not limited to :
 - a) putting in place sanctions to the countries who try to use weaponized satellites
 - b) providing public information to members states about the satellites sent such as:
 - i. mission information;
 - ii. base location;
 - c) creating an international body led by designated members of the UNSC in order to:
 - i. monitor all space activities of all countries through
 1. granting access to space for research purposes;
 2. denying access to outer space for military purposes;
2. In order to reduce the inequalities between countries :
 - a) reduces all international sanctions to prevent the development of many countries by
 - i. creating a tax system based on technological resources;

- ii. using the resources of the wealthiest countries to help the poorest countries to allow intergalactic military independence;
 - b) makes space research programs common knowledge among all and spaces agencies, especially but not limited to:
 - i. Space X, NASA, ESA, CNES, CSA, CNSA, Roscosmos, Blue Origin, Virgin Galactic, ...
 - c) helps disadvantaged nations to develop tech for research and safety purposes such as telecommunication or meteorology;
3. Reminds all the countries that space is an exploration area and not a new military zone via ways such as but not limited to:
- a) disallowing all kind of unverified military bases on the ground;
4. Asks all the member countries to sign the space disarmament treaty (by the delegations of Popular Republic of China and of the Federation of Russia in 2008) before 2027 in order to bring peace.
5. Allows access to all member states of the United Nations Security Council ISS to for research purposes.